

CODE OF CONDUCT

OT-ISAC Summit 2021 is dedicated to provide a virtual event experience that is safe and free from harassment for all participants, regardless of gender, age, sexual orientation, disability, physical appearance, body size, race, ethnicity or religion. All participants of the event, including attendees, speakers, exhibitors, sponsors, media and staff, are expected to conform to the Code of Conduct for the duration of the event and at all event platforms. The event organisers will enforce this code throughout the event, including presentations, social virtual interactions and other related online media.

Acceptable behaviour includes, but is not limited to:

- Be respectful and considerate to all participants who share the event platforms.
- Be mindful of your interactions and fellow participants, do alert the event organisers if you notice any dangerous situations or fellow participants in distress.
- Refrain from demeaning, discriminatory or harassing behaviour, speech and materials.

Unacceptable behaviour includes, but is not limited to:

- Offensive written or verbal comments related to gender, age, sexual orientation, disability, physical appearance, body size, race, ethnicity or religion.
- Inappropriate use of suggestive language or imagery (e.g. Sexual or violent materials).
- Inappropriate contact and unwelcome sexual attention.
- Deliberate stalking or following of other participants.
- Harassment via unauthorised photography or recording (sound or video) of other participants.
- Disruption of presentations and other events at the event.
- Possession of items that may cause harm or danger to other participants.
- Failure to adhere to rules and regulations of the event platforms.
- Failure to obey to the rules and regulations set by the event organisers.
- Advocating or encouraging any of the above behaviour.

CONSEQUENCES

OT-ISAC Summit 2021 will not tolerate any form of unacceptable behaviour made towards the event organisers or participants. Offenders are expected to comply immediately when asked to stop any unacceptable behaviour. The event organisers may take action they deem appropriate against any participant who engages in unacceptable behaviour or violates the Code of Conduct, and this could include a verbal warning or expulsion from the event without refund.

REPORTING OF UNACCEPTABLE BEHAVIOUR

If you are subjected to unacceptable behaviour, have witnessed fellow participants being treated poorly, or have additional concerns, please do not hesitate to contact us at \(65\) 9060 0562, e-mail to us at otisacvsummit_reg@image-engine.biz. All reports made will be kept confidential. In the event of an emergency situation, please contact local authorities immediately.

We value all participants' attendance and strive to keep the event welcoming for all.